Policy on Prevention of Plagiarism

1 Preamble

Ethics and honesty are the two most important and integrated components of the academic activities in teaching or research, which are founded upon extremely high moral values. There cannot be any room for claiming credit for the work one has not undertaken. However, it has been observed that some researchers/academics, knowingly or unknowingly, publish or present others' work as their own. Such acts affect academic environment which harms the credibility and reputation of the academic institutions as well as the individual. The IIHMR University has zero tolerance for such malpractices. In order to avoid academic misconduct, the IIHMR University has in place a strong policy on plagiarism.

As plagiarism and steps to prevent it are important, equally important is to educate students and academic community about the dangers of plagiarism. IIHMR University provides appropriate support to strengthen the moral of students and academic community, so as to ensure zero plagiarism.

2 Definition of Plagiarism

- Claiming someone else's work as one's own;
- Copying words or ideas from someone else, without giving credit to the original work;
- Failing to put a quotation in quotation marks advertently with the intention of not acknowledging the original source with page number(s);
- Re/paraphrasing text without providing the original source;
- Giving incorrect information about the source of a quotation;
- Manipulation or misinterpretation of others' work (published or un-published) as her/his own by modifying numerical values in figures, tables and illustrations.

(Currently, Turnitin software is used for detecting plagiarism.) Additionally, if the IIHMR University receives a written complaint for plagiarism against any Ph. D scholar from within and outside the university (including external examiner(s)) with proper identity of the complainant established, the thesis work of the said scholar will be scrutinized by an expert committee for their originality before they are considered suitable for submission.

4 Compliance Statements

As per UGC guidelines, the dissertation/thesis shall have an undertaking from the research scholar and a certificate from the research supervisor attesting to the originality of the work, vouching that there is no plagiarism, and that the work has not been submitted for the award of any other degree/diploma from IIHMR University or any other institution/university.
